Whatever you think you are, you’re more than that.

Introduction to Hawaiian Huna

Huna is about empowerment, about increasing your spirituality, energy, and metaphysical healing powers.
You may have noticed that in the last 10 years more and more people have become interested in ancient teachings. Workshops on healing, Shamanism, Native American Teachings, and other forms of ancient wisdom are more popular than ever before. It’s because people want to know:

- Who am I?
- What is my spiritual nature?
- What is the nature of the world in which we live?
- What is my life’s purpose?
- How were people in ancient times connected to nature?
- How can I connect with the elemental forces of nature & live in harmony with my environment?
- Why do things happen the way they do?
- Why am I here?

If you have asked yourself even one of these questions over the past few years, then it may be time for you to consider the study of Huna.

Huna is a Hawaiian word that means “secret.” Huna was originally called Ho’omana. Ho’o means “to make” and mana means “life force energy” equivalent to Ki (as in Aikido), Chi (as in Tai Chi) or Shakti in the Sanskrit language. Taken together the word Ho’omana means empowerment or to empower. Huna is about empowerment, about increasing your spirituality, energy and metaphysical healing powers. It is the original art and science of healing and spiritual development of the Hawaiian people.

In Hawaii the teachings of Huna were passed down orally for hundreds of generations. Many believe that at one time there was just one teaching, and that all peoples of the Earth lived by that one teaching. And as time progressed, different peoples deviated from the teaching and created a wide variety of beliefs and doctrines available today.

Because of the remoteness of the Hawaiian Islands, Huna stayed pure; more like the original teachings. It is because of this, that Huna is considered by many as the direct link to the ancient wisdom. At one time it was outlawed and almost lost forever, but Huna is now available to all races and religions.

Come and discover why this teaching has become so important to us and thousands of others who have attended our past Huna Weekends and Workshops.

Who Studies Huna?
A wide and varied range of people are drawn to Huna and take our Huna Trainings. The range includes healthcare professionals, therapists, psychologists, lawyers, business owners and managers, educators, world-class professional athletes, college students, and people just like you. Most people who study and practice Huna want to know more about themselves and the world around them than what is in modern science and psychology. So, if you are interested in a more esoteric view of the world, if you want to connect more with who you are and discover a whole new world around you, then Huna is for you.

Huna is an Experience, Not a Classroom
Learning Huna is more about experiencing the knowledge, rather than learning the techniques. While you’ll do both at this training, it is important for you to realize that this is a very different training than any you have ever attended.
